H.H. Dow High

Midland, Michigan

as the joys of summer living dwindled away into september, the realization that another school year was upon us became very obvious. for the sophomores it was a time for new ideas; high school seemed to loom up before the newcomers like some vast and awesome monster complete with room numbers without rooms, huge upperclassmen, and many added responsibilities. for the juniors it was a halfway mark. having finally overcome their "smart - alec - sophomore" label, they had learned some of the joys and sorrows of school on a firsthand basis and were a bit cautious but still enthusiastic. for the seniors it was the beginning of the end of the beginning. they were coming back as the wise and "always right" seniors. june seemed to be so far away and yet, sometimes, just a bit too close. finally, for the staff and administration, it was a new start. there were new "minds to mold". having had three months to recuperate from their last encounter, they were ready to have another go at it. this group of individuals mixed together by occurrences in and out of the classroom, combines to give shape to the events which are chronicled in this book.

A little controlled chaos to liven up the day

a day with dragons and chargers, indians and madmen. does that sound like the typical day at dow high? well, even if it might, that's not what it was. it was "dress-up day", a part of dow's homecoming weekend the day was complete with an unscheduled "parade" put on by the senior class rowdies. although some of the gruesome faces on some individuals were a surprise, some people seemed to feel it was an improvement

Hypnotic sights and sounds

among this year's special happenings were the hypnotist assembly and the homecoming dance. we all seem to be in a hypnotic state half of the time anyway, but in february the student union brought back dr. irwin ross, the famed hypnotist to deepen our trances. he was especially successful with several seniors. dr. ross didn't have much new material, but he was still pretty entertaining and his subjects were too "magic" played in the gym loft for the homecoming dance and dow high's reputation for wild dances was upheld "may we both get what we want, and may it be what we wanted when we get it"

this year's homecoming was once again proof of the fact that you can lose and still have fun. the homecoming activities started on wednesday, october 24, with a snake dance and bonfire. next came dress-up day on the day of the game. the seniors were leading the way with tricia paskiewicz's portrayal of the charger symbol. then next came the parade. the first prize for floats was captured by the seniors while the furgie family captured first place in the vw competition. in the football game, however, the chargers found themselves in trouble. they were beat 36-0 by bay city handy. the charger spirit was dampened, but not drowned the students and returning alumni kept spirits high by rocking out to "magic". in the homecoming court were terri melvin, bev romesburg, robin wisner, rose sinclair, lynette zondlak, lynne williams, karen grindahl and heidi smith. all in all, the homecoming celebration was a success for everybody.

The student union makes it happen!

amidst the confusion and hassles of trying to survive the school day, there is someone on your side — the student union. the union is composed of nine very talented and conscientious individuals who are interested in promoting student harmony by rock-n-roll, getting students out of their day to day trance by an assembly with a hypnotist, and untangling the rolls of red tape involved in organizing and building clubs and student oriented activities. the union is not only interested in helping present groups continue along their present paths but is also concerned with helping future organizations find a path upon which they can travel furthermore, the union will listen to hassels or complaints with policies and is always welcome to suggestions for improvement of current rules and regulations. although the union does not have total control over operation of all school functions and rules, they are always more than willing to suggest ideas for improvement to the proper authorities. the union is constantly working for the improvement and enjoyment of our facilities and their hard working attitude for change is not only refreshing but contrary to the apathy the student body is often accused of

despite the fact that almost everyone on the staff was fired at least 47 times by ol' j. r. and the fact that the only time it was possible to find anything anyone needed was if it was under a humungous pile of pictures or papers, the yearbook staff once again has come through as planned (?) with nostalgia as the theme, the staff went to work in july and didn't let up until june late nights in the office, after school everyday, saturday afternoons, lunch hours and any spare minutes during the day were utilized to their fullest extent, and if it hadn't been for mrs. gentel, this whole business could have turned into chaotic ruin *this year the dow high varsity club (sometimes called "the lettermen"), together with the midland high varsity club, sponsered the tom hiser benefit. They played basketball against each other with midland high emerging victorious. after this entertaining event, a local team, al's sport shop, played basketball against the detroit lions. the lions triumphed after kicking a field goal, and accomplishing a touch-down on a fake the varsity club also raised five-hundred dollars toward a new vid-

the national honor society

It's a small world

my name is jorgan haafstad and I am an exchange student from oslo, norway. I have been here for only three months but am enjoying myself much. some major differences between these two cities are the size and terrain. oslo is huge, but expensive. midland is a perfect size. from the first time I heard about your school I have been impressed and I was even more impressed when I first met dow high my school was smaller and older but also more relaxed than dow. you have a much bigger selection of classes than in european countries there is also more modern and better equipment here than I am used to. there are plenty of rooms and good teachers. I don't need to worry about grades and can take classes that appeal to me. I think to be an exchange student is a great chance to experience and meet people. I couldn't do it in norway hello. I am maria de lourdes eguez. people here call me pochy. I am 18 and in my country — quito, equador — I have finished school. I went to a private school where the nuns were stricter. in quito, I usually studied 15 subjects a year and had 7-8 classes. I am a language nut. in your school, I am studying german and I have learned french and english my friends tell me my german sounds funny and it is because of my accent. I am a perfectionist; in america I want my speech to sound american. it feels freer here. people can do more here and I feel that this gives them a chance to develop their own personalities

Definition of track: “Detectable evidence that something has passed . . .”

the "big board" (en route to the gym) shows only the school records that have been broken since the opening of dow high school. so the dow high track coach, ernie malzahn, put up his own boards. these "clubs" (referring to such and such a time) keep a record of all the trackers who have been especially good. these people contributed to dow's landslide victories of not less than 29 points each meet: dave hernandez (440 and 880), top plamp (2 mile), paul grabiel (1 mile), jim hitchcock (22), doug greason and rick burks (high jump)

Grenkoski leads baseball team

the varsity baseball team suffered it's first losing season with an 8-17 record. the team played well with many juniors in key positions. many games were lost by sheer chance (close scores); dow held state champ midland to only a 4-5 deficit. capt. mark grenkoski led the team with his number of stolen bases (top-notch bandit) and was the "most valuable player." outstanding infielder and outfielder (bruce len, brad hobbs) were chosen for the all-valley second team. mark purtell was "best pitcher" and kirt jurn led the team in rbi's. the j.v. team beat midland two times!!! although the rest of the season wasn't so lucky, personal scores accumulated are impressive. best team average is rashotte's. rbi and batting leaders are cronkright and ellis. russel was the winner when it came to home runs.

the boys' tennis team once again came through as stars. they kept up their record by once again capturing the saginaw valley championship, then went on to win second place in the state finals. it was at these finals that sophomore kevin cook became the first state champion from midland. with final scores of 6-3, 5-7, and 7-5, he took the singles trophy away from a worthy grand rapids opponent. congratulations, kevin!

Fore!

dow high's golf team took first place in the saginaw valley tournament. what's so great about hitting a poor little ball? apparently, the boys take this little symptom of senility seriously because the varsity and junior varsity teams have played a total of forty-one other nutty teams! their mania has carried them away from home and many miles in order to play those matches. congratulations go to marci gilmore who, by breaking his ankle after the first match, ended the season with the lowest average on the team!

Chargers play tough football despite losses

the chargers plunged headlong into the football season this year, high in spirits and a little shorthanded in experience. after losing their opener to an always tough alpena team, the chargers lost a hard fought contest to mi pleasant. next they took on state champions saginaw arthur hill, and they, along with many other teams, more than met their match. dow finally put it together against pontiac in a close exciting game, dow once more found victory the following week against flint northwestern. the chargers were only able to compile one more win, however, that being against mcarthur the season ended in a loss to city rival midland high. ken phelps was the only charger named to the all valley squad and rich alexander received the midland daily news award for the most outstanding player. alexander was also named most valuable lineman and dave thorton was the most valuable back the season was hard fought all the way from beginning to end and the chargers never gave up. they made key plays in many situations, but were hurt by fumbles and interceptions

Varsity Basketball: the Chargers had a Challenging Season

after having won the first game of the year against midland high, the chargers went on to complete a very challenging season. their opponents were among the best teams in the state. they had 7 wins and many losses, but no matter, because we love them anyway. the players were tough and quick and really gave the other teams something to worry about. a special congratulations must go to coach tom perkins. this was his first year as coach of the dow charger team and he did a commendable job. but with the efforts of such players as greg rogers, rick burks, alex hembree, kevin cook, and mike vincent — how could he help but do a good job

Dow Highs Pom Pon Girls . . .

people don't realize the work that goes into being a pom-pon girl. it requires all of a girl's free time. they have to come up with songs and ideas of routines to go with the song. by the time they are to perform, the routine must be learned by heart. when the girls get out on the floor, it's their smile that counts. a smile expresses enthusiasm for the routine. pep is an example of their school spirit, an important asset. tryouts are judged by the smile, pep, and then the talent. it all adds up to fun, and for girls who enjoy dancing and entertaining, the pom-pon is a way to express it.

Mr. Schultz tries to help his students grasp the meaning of sociology, what it is and how it applies to today.

one of the most interesting events of the year was a gathering of border-breaking. It was put on by the psychology and sociology departments with the specific purpose of breaking down the barriers of prejudice between people. For the day groups of six to seven students got together and really tried to get to know one another. This was done through a series of questions asked of each individual. "I've been a freshman here and see things in which would you dash? hate people? ... you know that? ... there are other people who have seen a car in the back of your retreat from greeting them, why? they haven't taken care they might think it's a ... at the end of the time period almost everyone went away with a greater understanding of those around him or her.

in present world of training class

The classes that make our secretaries and business men

because business is a definite part of our life today, one must start his training early. that's why, at dow high, we have classes in typing, business math, shorthand, and bookkeeping offered to beginning and advanced students the teachers are enthusiastic and very willing to help their students overcome the difficulties of their subject.

Until that day, she said.

Home Economics isn't what it used to be

nowadays, home economics means more than just cooking and sewing. besides the traditional cooking and sewing classes, courses are offered in child-aid environmental design (interior and exterior design), and personal relationships, all of the many diverse areas included in the running of a household. mrs. jorge and mrs. sutton work hard to make these classes fun as well as a learning experience.

Learning While Earning the Co-ops motto

"students who desire to participate in the co-op program are asked to specify an interest area. they are then sent on interviews that are consistent with that interest, or closely generally more than one student is sent for the same job opportunity and the employer selects the student that will best meet the requirements of the job. many co-op students are retained throughout the summer. this decision is made by the employer and generally is determined by the needs of the business and the performance of the student during the year"

Girls and boys strive for physical perfection

phys. ed is the highlight of the school day for many students. it gives you a chance to work off the pressures of other courses and is a welcome change from sitting at a desk. volleyball and gymnastics are only two of the many ways to achieve coordination and physical fitness

The guys in the white hats

the dow high school administration does more than separate paper clips from rubber bands. it has an important part in helping this school function. the big man behind the scene is our one and only mr. clark. with his assistant, mr. page, they manage to open the school each morning much to the dismay of the students. mr. quick, the athletic director, does many other things besides coaching the football team he must cope with the many problems that arise in the athletic department; from supplying the girls with football jerseys to psyching the guys up for the game these aren't just the school administrators though, they are also friends to many of the students. they can be seen frequently throughout the day chatting and laughing with the students this helps to create a good relationship that exists between the administration and students here at dow

last june mr. hiser was involved in a swimming accident that caused him to spend a long summer in ann arbor hospitals. as the school year began we kept in touch through cassette tapes. it didn't seem right not to have his office door open in september, but come december, it was the most popular place in the building. everyone wanted to let him know in their own words, not just by way of a hallmark card, that they really cared. since then, students and faculty have really come to realize that mr. hiser's "coaching" days have just begun.

American business is realizing more and more it can contribute a good deal more than money to enrich cultural life. Dow Corning is a prime example of this concept and at the same time has found a way to support youth in its artistic endeavor. Dow Corning is a youthful company, both in years and outlook. We have based our success on creating products from molecules never found in nature, and tailoring them to meet mankind's ever-changing needs. Our annual Christmas Card Design Contest, now in its 18th year, is another way in which we support the concept of new ideas and new approaches.

the events recorded during this year will become a blurred memory with the passing of time. many of the faces we know will someday be vague and unfamiliar the statistics, that now seem so important, will all become lost in the ever pressing shift of time. the teacher, whom we can't seem to forget even if we try eventually too will be a fading memory. the victories over exams and athletic rivals will be barely recalled even though they are of major consequence now. even the laughter and tears of our closest relationships with others may someday seem far off and remote. if not for this book. when our days of "jollies" seem to have vanished with the growth of maturity and added responsibility, this book will remind us of good ol' down high. the pages will have the ability to bring back memories, that our minds might lose. this yearbook along with a dust covered diploma and maybe a pressed corsage or an old "rock-n-roll" album. may be our only evidence of our high school escapades for our grandchildren. so as some of us leave for the last time, we will remember the hard work and rowdiness that really made up our high school experiences

damn,
I'm glad you saved me a page! Well, you've made this year the best year of my life. Hopefully we will have many more just like it. You're the sweetest (sugary) jack I know. You CC. picture proves it.

All those girls in your expas. class, hmmm, there is more of them (totally, heh, heh) than there is of me so I guess I'm out numbered. I'll just have to stay jealous!

You're perfect! You give up a lot for me. I appreciate it, too. (Believe it or not!) We will have to apply at Mac's pretty soon or we will have to be poor together.

We will also have to get you a bank account so your mons won't be burning a hole in your pocket.

~~I~~ see I'm not the only one who likes what you do. → We'll have to take a poll to find out who else does. This summer you'll be pulled between Tom's & my houses. I really like you to spend time with Tom after all you may be needing him. (Think statement)

I'd like to announce that Dan Klein has broken the record for the most aching muscles in a year. He had 207. Last record was 187 held by Mark Sabourin. Guess what you win. A lifetime supply of... drum roll... Ben's Gay! Alright!

Well, lover, I love you so stay by me forever, okay? You promised, remember?

Love,
me

P.S. Someday I'll right one (P.S.)

P.S. Thank you for giving me the world!

Dan,

Hope you have a good summer,
good luck with Sue. Keep Cool

Dan,

Congrats to the guy who makes math class (let us be more concrete - GEOMETRY) - well,
I don't know what you do, but,
whatever you do, I like it!

luck always!

DAN, someday when
you hear Dave Wood's call
be able to say "I knew that lousy bugger when he ran
a 5:31 in Jefferson JH."

Daniel-

You have to be one
of the happiest and unlucky up guys I know! You've made this expo class just what much more bearable. Good luck with track next year and have a wonderful summer!

Pat Krahnik

It's a relief!
It's made it through Expo.
Are you taking winter workshop?

Dan,
You're a great teacher. With your drive and
should make it to
the Olympics.
Good luck always
